Foreword

It is with great joy that we offer this treasure of biblical truth, a Catechism that has been commonly attributed to Benjamin Keach (1640-1704) however was most likely written by another seventeenth century Particular Baptist named Williams Collins.<sup>1</sup>

The Baptist Catechism of 1693 could be easily regarded as the leader in identifying the majority held doctrine by Baptists in both Europe and America during the eighteenth and well into the nineteenth century.

It is our desire that this catechism along with the 1689 Baptist Confession of faith and the Orthodox Catechism authored by Hercules Collins (no relation to William Collins) would once again be utilized in the evangelizing, teaching and training of the children in our churches and homes. That they would, as in the past, aid our churches in preserving those precious truths that are “most surely believed amongst us”.

Parents and grandparents, gather the children in your life around, and together explore through the questions and answers offered in the Catechism. Read the proof texts and then add your own as the Spirit leads your time together. Allow us to offer a small bit of advice, be certain to record the date you read and discuss a question, also jot down any additional thoughts or scriptures each child may contribute. This will allow you to observe through the years how they have grown in their understanding of the material.

When done daily, a solid and biblical foundation will begin to be established in the hearts and minds of your children. In time and according to God's plans, they will be equipped to earnestly contend for the faith which was once delivered unto the saints.

C.H. Spurgeon once said pertaining to the importance of this Catechism

“In matters of doctrine you will find orthodox congregations frequently change to heterodoxy in the course of thirty or forty years, and it is because too often there has been no catechizing of the children in the essential doctrines of the Gospel. For my part, I am more and more persuaded that the study of a good Scriptural catechism is of infinite value to our children. Even if the youngsters do not understand all the questions and answers...still yet, abiding in their memories, it will be of infinite service when the time of understanding comes, to have known these very excellent, wise and judicious definitions of the things of God.”
